

History Makers

2006 WTA Award Winners

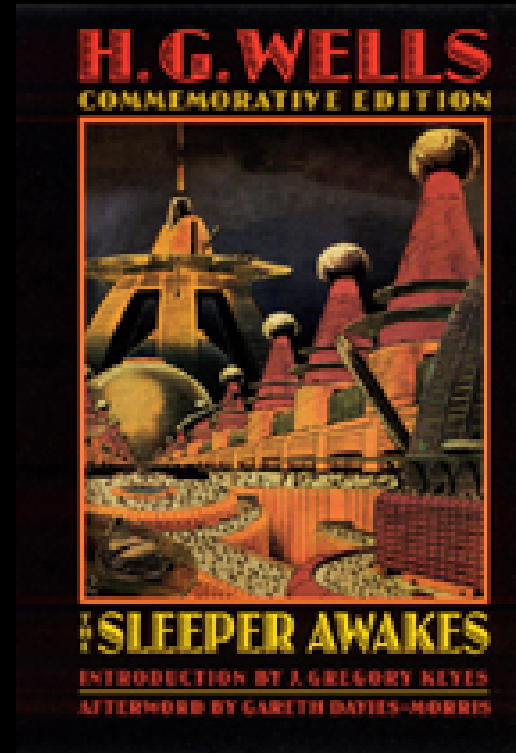

Herbert George Wells (1866-1946)

Futurist Thinker

Utopian and Dystopian

Future of Humanity

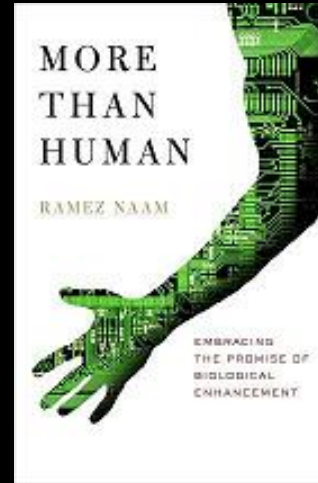

HG Wells Award Winners

2004 Awardee

Aubrey de Grey

2005 Awardee

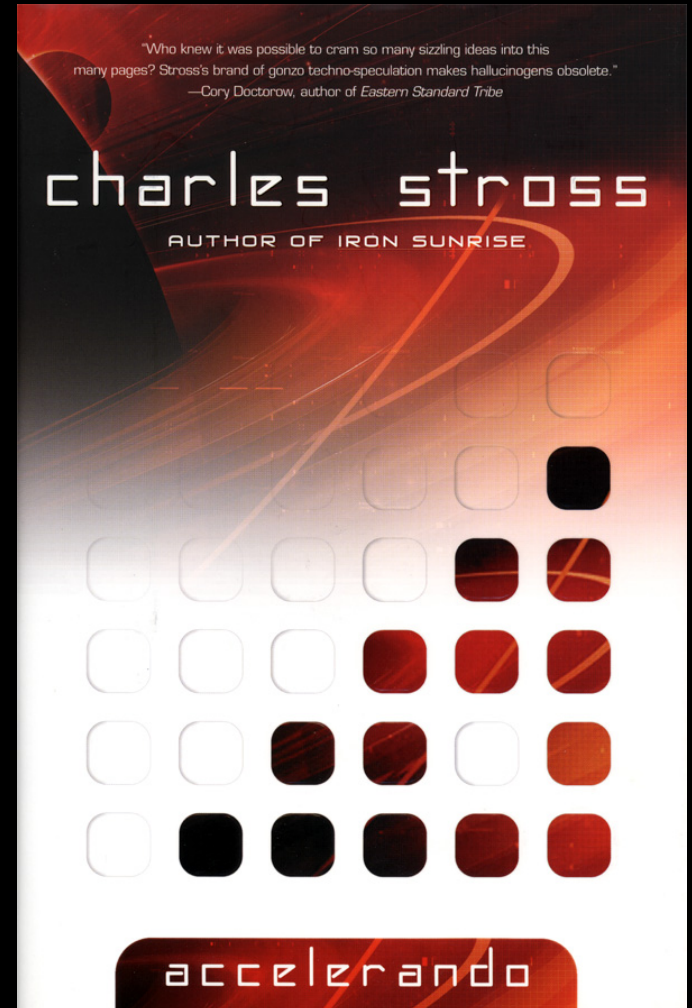

Ramez Naam

2006 Awardee

Charles Stross

He's Pleased

Charlie's Diary

[Site Index] [Feedback]

H. G. Wells speech.mp4

« Thought for the day | Main | A word from the sponsors ... »

I'm very pleased to announce ...

... That the World Transhumanist Association have decided to award me the 2006 H.G. Wells award for Outstanding Contributions to Transhumanism.

(I'm still not entirely sure why — my contributions are of a purely fictional nature — but I'm pleased as punch; I just regret that I can't be in Helsinki this August to receive the award in person at TransVision 2006.)

Posted by Charlie Stross on June 27, 2006 07:55 PM | Permalink

Comments

Accelerando combined a lot of data, concepts and known technology into an understandable and foreseeable future. Fiction or not, many of your ideas of posthumanism are sound.

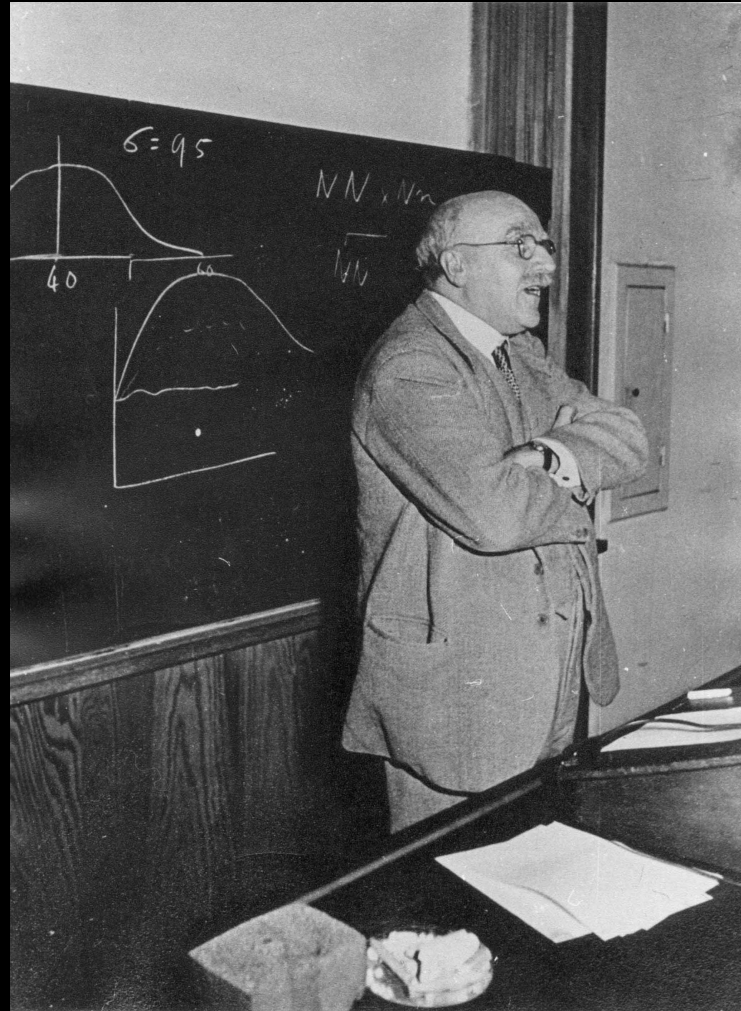

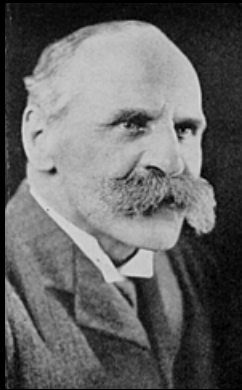

Congrats!
-nJ

Posted by: neuraljazz | June 27, 2006 08:24 PM

I think you've done a good job depicting what a transhuman (or post human) world could look like. Your ideas about a Singularity are even better than Vinge, and he's the one who founded the sub-genre.

Posted by: Andrew G | June 28, 2006 02:44 AM

JBS Haldane

Haldane Award for Best Undergraduate Transhumanist Essay

- 2003: John Schloendorn “Evolution and its Implications for Aging, Death and the Extension of the Human Life Span”
- 2004: Kip Werking
“The Posthuman Condition”
- 2005: Brian Fritz
“Genes, Memes, and Gender: Transhumanist Anthropology and Cultural Evolution”

2006 Haldane Winner

Guido Núñez-Mujica

“The Ethics of Enhancing Animals,
Specifically Great Apes”

